“ 50 Great Short Stories, ” first published in 1952 and edited by Milton Crane, has been a popular high school textbook in the U.S., judging by the number of printings the book has had. The weathered copy I read was the 46th printing in 1983 and used as a textbook for Skyline High School in Oakland.

Not the fifty greatest American short stories, just fifty good American short stories. Crane oftentimes rejected the better known works from the short fiction masters and also included some little known short stories from well-known novelists. So, there are many good stories here, but few truly exceptional ones.

Not as great as I expected it to be. I had my class order this hoping it 'd be a great source for classic short stories. There are a few great ones, but the majority are bleh. The print is extremely tiny and lines are close together on the page, so it is difficult to read. Also, the books fall apart easily for some reason.
